Ambulance Is Operating Temporarily

Ambulance services in the Pahokee-Canal Point area is taken care of temporarily and the squeeze has been lightened in other areas of the Glades. Inside the city limits of Belle Glade, city fireman and city policemen are using rented ambulances temporarily to serve that area. South Bay, the area east of Belle Glade to Twenty Mile Bend and that area south of South Bay will be served by the Pattison Funeral Home of Clewiston.

In a desperate effort to provide the Pahokee-Canal Point area with ambulance service, after the funeral homes in the area discontinued such a service on August 1, a deal was worked out whereby the Northwestern Palm Beach County Public Hospital District came up with the plan to guarantee monthly payment for service.

To further the ambulance plan a special corporation—Pahokee Ambulance Service, Inc.—was set up and the hospital district is contracting with this new concern to handle ambulance calls. In turn the newly formed Ambulance Service contracts with C. R. Wetherington of Wetherington Funeral Home to answer the ambulance calls and render the much needed service.

In the city of Belle Glade firemen and policemen are answering the ambulance calls within the city limits and are using ambulances rented from the funeral homes in that city. However, no service is provided outside the city limits.

Throughout the state people have been aroused over the new and stringent law that regulates ambulances since that law was passed by the 1965 legislature. Restrictions are so rigid that funeral homes just can't furnish the ambulance service without losing a great deal of money. Legislators in Palm Beach county and other areas are making plans to do something in the 1967 legislature to make it possible for ambulances to be operated for the convenience of the public.

A spokesman for the Florida attorney general's office said that the state would seek possession of the hides in Federal court on August 10.

The hides were seized in connection with charges of illegal possession of uncured hides filed against Abbeville city Councilman Ralph Sagera. Charges against Sagera were quashed when his attorney introduced evidence showing the hides were from Florida and not subject to Louisiana law.

U of So Fla. To Build Dormitory

TAMPA, (FNS)—The University of South Florida will soon have a plush off-campus dormitory of 13 stories erected for the convenience of the students.

Robert Elder, executive vice president of Allen Bros. and O'Hara Inc., Memphis general contractors, said negotiations "are 99.9 percent complete" on starting the private student housing project this September with construction expected to take a year. The completely air conditioned building will be operated by the management services division of Allen Bros. and O'Hara, according to Elder.

USF officials meanwhile pointed out that the plans to build the private housing were carried forward "with the full knowledge and cooperation of the university."

Florida Gas Has Huge Expansion

TALLAHASSEE (FNS)—A $43 million expansion of the Florida Gas Transmission Company's natural gas pipeline into Florida has just been completed, providing the state with a 23 per cent increase in the volume of natural gas available, says the Florida Development Commission.

Florida Gas, with headquarters in Winter Park, said the new facilities were designed to permit the company to deliver an additional 85 million cubic feet of natural gas daily to Florida from wells in Louisiana.

The new volume of natural gas delivery has increased the total system delivery capacity to 444 million cubic feet daily. The Florida Gas Transmission Co. pipeline runs southward through the state to a point below Miami.

New Corporations Many In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, (FNS)—For the first time in recent history Florida has pushed past California in the number of new corporations chartered, according to Secretary of State Tom Adams.

Adams announced that in April California fell to third place, behind Florida in the chartering of new corporations. New York still holds first place.

The Corporations Division of the Secretary of State's office, which charts all local and out-of-state corporations doing business in Florida, recorded 1,203 new charters during April. California, according to the Dun and Bradstreet report, chartered 1,075 the same month.

The issuance of new corporate charters is a good barometer of the state's economy, Adams said. Florida's increase is indicative of the solid business growth during past months, he explained.

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Long and son, Rammie, are vacationing at Fort Myers Beach.

Advertising Plans For Vegetables

ORLANDO (FNS)—Special committees of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association have recommended that advertising and promotion programs be undertaken for tomatoes, string beans, escarole and chichory.

In order to put the suggested program in effect, support of a majority of the growers of Florida must be obtained.

J. S. Peters, FFVA membership and industry relations manager, and Wayne Hawkins, FFVA production-marketing manager, made the recommendations during three meetings earlier this month.

The committee recommended promoting and advertising Florida escarole if shippers of 90 per cent of the potential 1966-67 volume agree to pay two cents per crate to finance the program.

The tomato committee suggested that their groups ask the FFVA to act as their exclusive agent for marketing tomatoes for processing or canning. The bean committee also asked the association to implement the handling of fresh string beans.

Five New Jr. Colleges To Open This Fall

Five new state-supported junior colleges will open in the state this fall with an expected enrollment of about 3,800. They will bring to 25 the number of public junior colleges in Florida and will place college-level education within commuting distance of 85 percent of the state's population.

James R. Strawbridge, educational administrator in the junior college division of the State Department of Education said in Tallahassee that the enrollment figures are estimates. "In general," he said, "the junior colleges will accept applications till the last minute."

Largest of the new schools is Florida Junior College at Jacksonville, which expects about 1,500 students.

The others are Santa Fe Junior College, Gainesville, 700; Tallahassee Junior College, 600; Seminole Junior College, Sanford, and South Florida Junior College, Avon Park, about 500 each.

About 95,000 students will be enrolled in all of Florida's public junior colleges in the fall, Strawbridge said.

Two more junior colleges are in planning for Florida, he said, one for Hillsborough County and one for Orange and Osceola counties.

Fiscal Year Receipts Big For Florida

Taxes and other receipts of the government of the state of Florida and of all the local governments within Florida together totaled $1,766,000,000 during the past fiscal year, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported in its Weekly Business Review released Saturday.

"This amount was 9 per cent more than the 1964 Florida figure and the national average was up 8 per cent. In addition to state governments, collections by counties, cities and all types of districts are included.

"The Florida state-local collections total was made up of $506,700,000 in all types of property taxes (up 5 per cent); $345,900,000 in other levies usually described as consumer taxes (up 9 per cent); and $413,400,000 in fees, licenses and miscellaneous general revenue (up 15 per cent).

"In terms of each Florida's share of these taxes, last year's total was $304 of every man, woman and child. This total breaks down into $87 in property taxes, $146 in consumer type taxes and $71 in miscellaneous charges.

"This $304 in per capita receipts by these governments compares with $359 per capita expenditures by these governments. The difference between receipts and expenditures was made up partly by borrowings against future receipts."

Controls Are Planned On Pesticides

GAINESVILLE (FNS) — With the advent of better residue detection methods, the Federal government moved recently to strengthen controls over pesticide residues or carryover in food.

According to Entomologist James Brodgon with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, new tolerances or limits will be set for safe, low levels of pesticides occurring in some foods when chemicals are used to control crop pests prior to harvest. Many pesticides were previously accepted by USDA on a "no residue" basis because by the analytical methods then no residue was detectable in food available. The present concept of no residue will be ended because residues do in fact exist.

Where a safe, low-level residue limit cannot be established for a certain food, "zero tolerances" (or the absence of any residue) will be set as a basis for removing contaminated foods from the market.

The "no-residue" and "zero-tolerance" concepts have gradually become the subject of concern as more sensitive methods for detecting trace amounts of residues have been developed. These new methods have shown that it is reasonable to expect that the use of many pesticides will result in small residues in some foods.

The new procedure provides a means to establish finite tolerances for pesticide residues in foods when this can be done safely.

This new approach in setting tolerances for residues of pesticides in foods was jointly announced by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare John Gardner and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The interdepartmental agreement follows recommendations made last summer by a National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council Committee that looked into minute pesticide residues in foods.

Products are accepted by USDA for registration only on the basis of proven safety and effectiveness. The U.S. Public Health Service reviews from the standpoint of human health any proposed uses of pesticides. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is responsible for setting safe pesticide residue tolerances.

In Florida four pesticide residue laboratories operated by the State Department of Agriculture work closely with FDA to protect the consumer from excessive chemical residues on food in its raw or natural state, including all fruits, vegetables, nuts, eggs, raw milk, forage, and meats.

Now— U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E—9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding Bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

Why should you buy
 U. S. Savings Bonds when there are so many other good investments?

To help your country is one answer—and a good one.

But Bonds have other advantages that make them worth your consideration.

For instance, they offer you just about the easiest way to save money, either with the Payroll Savings Plan, where you just ask your employer to put part of your wages aside toward a Bond or through regular purchase of Bonds at your bank.

Another unique advantage of U. S. Savings Bonds is the way they stick with you. You can get your money any time.

But if you're like most people, you'll hang on to your Savings Bonds for the big things you want in your future.

And, of course, Bonds are a safe investment—as long as there's a United States of America.

Which brings us back to your country again. Bonds help defend freedom at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

Buy Savings Bonds. The banks or savings institutions that sell them don't charge you a penny for the service.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with
